We just need a way of aging him 5 years, getting him drunk in Canada, and convince him to jump off of the Niagra Falls.

Wow, now he's at 24.112.63.39... he has such skills. This, ladies and gentlemen, is a textbook definition of a script kiddie.

As for this "...fat chick who knows php and cant get a real job"... Wow, you really stung me. I mean, wow. I am just reeling from this horrible insult. I didn't realize it was a bad thing to know how to program in a popular language. At least I write my own scripts, eh script kiddie? And it's my PHP scripts that are going to own you when you try to HTTP flood the server. Real job? Since when was Cisco not a real job?

Would have been a low blow if there were any truth in it. And if I actually were afraid of your mad script kiddie skills I probably wouldn't want to call you names, like a pathetic 14 year old who thinks he knows anything... or a ignorant 14 year old punk who needs the shit kicked out of him by his dad. Actually, given your behavior, I'm guessing your mom spread her legs in high school for some bench warmer on the high school basketball team so that he wouldn't beat her up so much ("He loves me, really!"), then left her sorry ass after she got knocked up. And of course she kept the baby because she needed someone to love her. And like most young moms with no father to help raise the child, she was dead wrong, unable to give proper discipline, and ended up with a terror child on her hands who treats her like shit and gets away with whatever he wants because she never learned to be a mother, only a friend.
