I'm nowhere near kid age and I'd rather have a DS, the hardware has more potential. However, I don't own either one because there aren't any games worth playing on them that I can't get on my consoles already.

I won't get a DS or PSP because I'm not going to travel anywhere where i'd want to take it with me. If i'm going out, i'm going out for a purpose. Either to have fun or do some work. And i'll never need one of those.

If I want to play games, I have my computer and a PS2 which I don't even use that much anymore.

The DS just sucks. Pure and simple. The PSP has better graphics. Can the DS play movies? No. Can the DS play MP3's? No.

Not really, I have the DS and dislike it. IMO it was a waste of money. I only bought it was to hoping that I was able to mess with the firmware etc (Now is possible, I just cant figure out what I'm doing... hah.) <http://www.dslinux.org>

Anyways... Currently on the PSP is:

IRC

MSN

and a Webbrowser (In a way)
