Hi, I was just wondering if anyone knew how Roleplay 2 is coming along. I remember it from the old Renstation.net modding forums, and once they got moved, I could never find the thread again. I remember this because I have a record store named after me in it! Anyway, I was just wondering how it's coming, if anyone knew, and if someone could link me to the new thread.

Thanks a lot!

Yes I may not know what im doing, but i do know what i like to see in maps , so this is much different then any other one around. Napalmic is also helping out, and i personally think he does a damn good job at it.

The map is not final either so just because we got betas, it doesnt really mean thats what you will get in the map. Right now the beta has like 9 buildings, compared to the 65 that are complete which i am gathering up textures and sending to napalmic for him to place on the map.

Also another thing to take note of is, just because the name of the map is Roleplay2 it doesnt really mean thats all its for. I just wanted to keep the same filename so people know its another huge map. You can do just about anything in this map, and if anything its more geared towards survivor style combat.

You work at bars, resturants, gas stations, or just gamble at casinos to gain your credits, there will always be a way.

Really the only thing i could suggest is to wait till around the end of this month for a solid release that will contain all the buildings and gameplay modes.

here are some of the buildings and props ive been working on.

Remember this map is basically all based on gta san andreas, so the gameplay will be somewhat the same style.

Ok what is a city with only 4-5 buildings on it? you Really think thats final lol, were using Gt2 for all the beta's and Roleplay2 for the final map name just so you dont confuse yourself anymore.

But im suprised anyone could think its done from the beta since its just the terrain which we are focusing on finishing , then after we get that finalized we will start adding in the 65 buildings i have completed.

But im glad someone thought even at this stage it is good enough to call it done lol, but far from in my opinion.

Basically all napalmic has to still do is fix the beaches a tad more , and of course add in the train tracks, and also change some textures around on the terrain.

This picture is strictly beta, and is progress work from napalmic after he improved the entire beach making it go all the way around the map now.

I loved the roleplay map, I mean there were a lot of missing textures, but none-the-less pretty good. Can't wait for the new map to come out.

www.yousendit.com,

you can upload it here, and about 20 people will be able to download it from that link (then it gets auto deleted). Just fill in the target mail as yourself, and place the link here that you get in your email. (Be sure to zip roleplay2.mix).

The lucky 20 first people can download it. When limit is reached, you can just Reupload.

Hmm, you can also try <http://rapidshare.de/>

Or, you can visit the official C&C Roleplay 2 Forums at <http://rp2.clicdev.com/>. Please Register as you will be able to post topics like your own suggestions for the map, and then download the Pre-Release within the Map Updates forum. You can expect new versions of the Pre-Release every once in a while, but I cannot make promises on when they are released.

Also, please note the following:

Napalmic wrote on Mon, 20 June 2005 07:42 Again, this work is strictly beta. Not everything has been implemented, nor have all the bugs been fixed. This Pre-Release is provided "AS IS," and nothing should be considered as final. I cannot stress this enough.

-Edit- Sorry, but our forum host is currently undergoing maintenance. Please excuse the inconvenience and check back at a later time.
