the movie "40 year old virgin" basically describes my future... with a main exception:

1. I'm nowhere near that naive.

Edit: though I should mention, this isn't THAT much of a secret.

I'm a pedophile! :D

. . .nah, not really. I guess my biggest "secret" is that I am, in fact, an anthropomorphic animal enthusiast. IE, what some people might call "a furry". I have a several "furry" characters, one of which is basically my online persona and I like looking at pictures of anthros, but that's about it. Just to clarify, however, I am nowhere near the "stereotypical furry".(For further reference as to what I am not, see the CSI episode "Fur and Loathing in Las Vegas".)

And now you know! And knowing is half the battle!

I'm a former pornogrphahy addict. It may sound silly, but it's a real problem. Unlike other addictions like tobacco, porn destroys you physically, emotionally, socially, and spiritually. It twists your mind, cuts your tounge, and warps your heart. It's the reason I love God so much. He got me out (and keeps me out) of it.

i used a cheat one time when playing games.

it was the code for doom where you get all the weapons.

when you use in in mechwarrior it blows you up tho.

and I stole a car a long time ago, just once however, needed the parts.

Though, I can't understand why some of these threads are created in the first place. I mean, why would you share your darkest secrets to random people online when you can't share them with people you know and trust in real life? I can understand the idea that nobody knows you, and it's good to get things off of your chest, but I don't go to another city that I don't plan to return to and start yelling my darkest secrets. Especially since your confessions can be logged and shared around the globe... if one was to ever take the initiative to do so.

I dont know how secret it is but, I really enjoy fire and explosions a lot. They are great things. I'm not a pyro really and don't get anything sexual out of it but Fire is just so gosh dang cool. In fact I always carry matches on me in my wallet just in case a fire ever needs to get going. Part of my always wanting to be ready for anything attitude. A funny aside with this though was when we went bowling one time I had a match book in my pocket but had also taken a single match out of the pack and was free in my pocket... While reaching around looking for keys in my pocket I accidentally struck the match to the strip and lit a match inside my pocket. I was like OMG WTF and everyone was laughing. It was great.

The "fire" thing is a secret? Hell, I'm a pyromaniac at heart. If I wasn't so scared about it (and had the money to spend to do it), I'd buy a can of WD-40, go hose down some wooden stuff. . . trees. .

.shit like that, light a match, and torch some stuff. I love playing with fire. . . I have a can of butane for my (broken)torch-lighter and I sometimes spray it in the lid, or in the sink, or on a patch of dirt outside, light a match, and watch it burn. Just to watch it burn. I can't honestly say I've thought about lighting people on fire, but I bet that'd be fun, too. . . If we ever go to war(and I don't mean like "The War on Iraq". . .) and I'm in the Army's front lines, pray they don't give me a flamethrower. I'd probably freak out and start torching friend and foe. . . That's pretty much what happened when I helped my friends burn crops a few years ago. I just started dragging a plant around that was on fire and gleefully skipped across the field until the fumes started making me dizzy. That actually knocked me back into reality. >_>;

. . .I think I see why I should've kept this a secret, now. XD goes off to play Return to Castle Wolfenstein to feed his firey hunger or something
