Trying to connect to server #1...Connected
Secure link established.
Welcome to RenGuard , Colajunky!
To launch Renegade, please click 'Renegade'.

So much for that, but if I join a server, it still say that I need RG!?
No Firewall, but router. On the 2nd computer Renegade works with Renguard without problems.
I can play, but those auto-server-messages can drive you crazy if you're in a hurry.

I'm getting something like this now too on my windows XP machine...

I log in to renguard, and it says welcome and displays the welcome screen it normally does...

I click Renegade and start playing. On another computer I check my status via web-page and it says idle... I go into a RG game... Still Idle... I do !rg HTIngram in game it says I'm not running RG... As I would expect, since the web thinks I'm idle...

I don't get it...

Any ideas???

thanks...

=HT=Ingram

What are you using? WOL or GSA or maybe even ASE?

You need to make sure your name is the same name as in the renguard status window

For ASE, you need to configure it properly!

I'm just using the standard WOL... and the nick is the same.

In the past I used windows 2000 and it never worked right with 1.03. now I'm using RG on Windows XP and it worked for like 1hr and then crashed and said I was offline later... Now it never says I'm online.

I've just tried reinstalling the entire system fresh and did it again, and I still can not get a connect message from RG. I know its working, cause I see others have it on. so I have no idea whats happening now. I'm starting to just say forget it, and wait till next RG release... If there is going to be one that is... Cause I have not been able to get this to work correctly since 1.02 (when it worked 100% of the time on any version of windows I might add) ingram...
