do you get the "requesting server list" message or do you see nothing or is it something else? please be a little more clearer.

Because WOL is fucked up, ask the servers which you like to let them relase their IP and ports, then direct connect.

I get the same kind of Operation Timed Out Message. The few times that i have gotten on there have been no servers just like you said. Don't try to go to EA about it bc they are having problems such as when i put in my name and pass it says that it doesn't exist then you go to make a new one and you get invaild URL but you have to sign in to ask a question. I have tried to direct e-mail them and i got that you need to do it through the web and i explained that i couldn't so they were like well here's some URL's that could help but none of them did. So for WOL as of right now it seems dead.

It's WOL, it's still un-stable.

The best thing for you to do is download XWIS and then connect to WOL, or even use another browser like GSA (GaySpy)
