Well I was installing my favorite anti cheat program RG when the snow was like: AAA DIE RG I WANNA CHEATZOR so well the AC went away and when it came back, i reopen the puter and... RG dont wanna run, cant uninstall it, cant reinstall it! Tryed uninstalling Renegade, deleting Westwood folder... RG survived all these. When I try to uninstall via Add/Remove it gimme error code -5001. When I run the downloaded rg 1.3 setup it uninstall but its doesnt.. see the point?! lol..

Help the n00bz0r!

Go to "Start" "Run" Than type Regedit. I'm not sure exactly where it would be my guess is HKEY_LOCAL_MACHINE than software.

I hope this is the solution to the problem your having because if its not than I am going to feel really bad.

I deleted everything from the Registry concerning RenGuard but its still not working.

Also deleted everything from Renegade.

Don't feel bad It was a good thing to try dude and it took me like 3 minutes to do it, I'm not a n00b... well yes. lol:P You have any others ideas?!? RG doesnt display anymore in the Add/Remove list but when I run the 1.03 setup it still bring me to the Modify - Repair - Remove screen. Modify Repair arent enabled, Remove run but doesnt remove anything lol

What operating system are you running?

Have you tried installing manually? (eg, follow the instructions here)

Out of curiosity, had you installed RenGuard via an admin account, and were trying to uninstall and reinstall via a non-admin account?

Winner = Me
Loser = Renegade

Got it fixed, now enjoying Renegay with a clean 60 FPS even when recording Fraps movie:P Big Grin

[/quote]

The topic where you posted this got closed. Are you really getting 60 fps while running fraps?

Holy shit, thats awsome. on a single core it will always be like 25 when running fraps. But because one runs the fraps & other programs the other core runs Ren. it's 60 very impressive.
