Not that I'm really intrested but you could give some spec's. What machines those servers are on?

Where are they based? Network spec's?

OldDust and Spooky are buying a brand new box, the ren servers will be running off that. I don't know exact specs, but I do know its new so, it's probably pretty decent. The server is based in the southern US. I've owned a server from them for like a year, and its always been really good and reliable.
