I don't know how many of you have ever visited shoutwire.com but if you have you know what kind of wastes of humanity visit that website.

They like to read about cherry picked bullshit polls:
Quote: http://www.shoutwire.com/comments/14395/Zogby_Poll_U_S_Troop s_in_Iraq_72_Sa
How about moronic nonsensical rants:
Quote: http://www.shoutwire.com/comments/14455/How_to_Change_the_Go vernment_the_American_Way

Government control over the news media conspiracies:
Quote: http://www.shoutwire.com/comments/14398/Bush_Planted_Fake_Ne ws_Stories_On_Amer

The list goes on and on. Just visit the site every once in awhile and you will see the overflowing idiocy of everyone there. They also tend to visit a site called spikedhumor.com where they advocate the elimination of the entire human race.

Quote: http://www.spikedhumor.com/articles/31037/Earth_Vs_Humans.ht ml

It just proves that people who know how to type and get on a computer aren't the brightest people on this planet. It scares me that they may actually be the majority, but then I remember they are not. Even though media, conspiracy theorists, and all around idiots would like to think so, they are not.

I see these links on a certain torrent site all the time. I'll agree that they're the dumbest things I've ever read.

He forms his opinion on his own rather than letting some cracked out site do it for him. I don't see how that's idiotic. However, calling someone "another American idiot" would be something I consider idiotic.

If anything, people who make stupid fucking generalizations like that one are responsible for fucking up our world- and it makes no difference whatsoever where the hell they come from. Shit and shitheads stink just as bad the whole world 'round...

It sounds to me like you're another angry foreigner who gets his rocks off by constantly bashing the United States without a clue as to why he's such an angry child. Every (powerful) nation has gone through their years of fucking up the world. If you're convinced that we're fucking up the world, then just consider it our turn. The most powerful nation in the world needs their turn.

Remember: Every person in a nation always thinks/acts/does the same. That's why it's ok to blame each individual of said nation for what you happen to think of it!

Remember, this topic was created by someone who says the US government should be able to control the Internet because they "have a patent" on it.

So much for the "forming an educated opinion" theory.

Republicans. <3

(And no, before some smartass responds "NOT ALL REPUBLICANS ARE IDIOTS THAT PUT BLIND TRUST IN THE GOVERNMENT," I'm aware!)

Apology...

   It was me, I am the one that everyone has been talking about, I am the slobbering, overweight, politically blind, inhumane, rich, white, American that has fucked the whole world. I led everyone to believe that it was my country and my leader mr George Bush and his pure administration that were to blame and I am sorry.

Mr Bush, I truly regret directing the blame at you, please forgive me, forgive me for letting people think that having your whole life revolve around oil, oil moguls, and big oil companies, could somehow inhibit your ability to properly run your empire.

America, please do not let my faulty judgment of this man sway your own intelligent opinions, Mr Bush is an outstanding man, a great leader, well articulated orator as to even challenge that poor paltry fumblester Lincoln, and should become King of America.

Rest of the world, please do not hate this country because of me, they have done plenty for you, we have even given you our industry leaving our own economy trembling on the brink of a disastrous depression. Mr Bush was kind enough to liberate several countries and preserve valuable resources. He is also spending trillions of dollars and thousands of soldiers lives so that your nations can one day be democratic freethinking people.

I sincerely hope that Mr Bush's ideologies will take root worldwide, as they bring promise of peace, hope and new life to our world.
