I didnt feel that it was, sure they used the character models from their other turok games, but it had 36 unique multiplayer maps for one. They were small but every single one is a classic.

I look at it like mortal kombat, yes its only small maps and no story. Even though scorpion was copied from game 1, game 16 will still be purchased by the fans.

Must be, everyone i send the link to has zero problems with it.

However there is a problem with the release, so it being re-uploaded at the moment. My Ftp client said it uploaded 100%, when it actually uploaded more like 45%.

However the link is was valid, i just took it down to upload the new.

What this mod needs is an IRC channel (something at n00bstories perhaps) so we can arrange games the proper way

Im trying to ge these crashes worked out, I should have done more online testing. So far the vamperic power crashes the game if you have the power and you hurt yourself.

And i was just in a game with ExDeath that crashed my game when i tried to pull out my scorpion launcher....however it works fine all the other times...

Anyone have any insite to the crashes?

EDIT: You know, if you notice something that maybe the cause.

That's a standard Url.

Even the beloved firefox uses it as a standard:

All I see is that on the website it says ...builds\rage... and on the link you posted here it's ...builds/rage... I don't give a shit about browsers, all I know is that one link works and the other doesn't, so maybe you should just change the one that doesn't...at least that's what I would do, but then again I'm not involved in the browsernerd battles.

Oh ok i see, i was confused because my browser was correcting the link:

While my html code said otherwise. Well its fixed, thanks for pointing it out.

So anyone discover anything involving the crash?
