Put them/it in another folder and put it/them back in your data folder when you're going to use them/it, then.

I used to get this problem a long time ago but found it that it was indeed pkg files. except, I always had to wait about 4-5 seconds, not minutes.

how does a pkg file slow it down?

does it check what mods you have so it knows that you can join a server with the same mod?

probably something to do with checking or scanning the files. but anyone may correct me if I'm wrong.

I got that aswell at the Message of the day.

It last's about 4-5 sec's after logging in, I knoticed it was when I added something new to the Data folder.
