Where do I find out how to become better in renegade? I don't think that I am that bad, but it seems that I can't compete correctly. When I shoot for the head, I still don't kill everyone. I shoot many several times and they shoot once...It seems that most get a one shot one kill, except for me. This happens to anyone I come against, a normal soldier and up. I understand the weakness/strengths of each character. I just get positioned and then I am dead. I don't want to be a nOOB any longer. Where do I find out how to play better?

Thanks

g

You can only get better by playing. Excercice makes perfect. Take your time.

Well moving around is a good tactic. Never stand still EVER, not for a fraction of a second, you will die if you do... unless your fighting an idiot anyway.

Getting head shots with a sniper rifle or pistol is a skill many players spend weeks honing to perfection. It's all about reflexes. Try and keep your aiming cursor near their head while still moving around, and the second it turns red whack that mouse button.

If your using a rapid fire weapon keep your mouse button pressed down and keep the aim around the head, not all your shots will hit, but when they do they are going to do some damage. A single headshot from the chaingun is worth 50 damage IIRC. Compare that with the 7 or 8 damage you would get from body shots and you can see why headshots kill people a LOT quicker.

Also be aware that if your aiming for the head you might hit the neak, which is worth 2.5x damage (IIRC), not as much as the headshot (5x I believe), but still a lot better than body shots.

The numbers I gave are just what I can remember off the top of my head, they are probably wrong, but I am at university at the moment so I can't check.

Keep playing on a BIG AOW SERVER

Jelly server/n00bstories if you will...It's how i got better acuracy and it learn's you to keep you're tank longer.

if you want some snipe skill's, start from a 500, And play a few snipe server's, Just keep at it.

You'll be able to become better on 1v1 or 1v2 battles in stead of keep getting wasted because there's 1500 other players swarming around you.

Small is beautiful .

I don't mean you need to play 1v1 or 2v2 but rather 4v4 - 8v8 in stead of 20v20. In those smaller games, you'll get different smaller combats.

I know lol

I'm just saying, Cus the harvester give's you less creadit's in Big AOW game's, it learn's you to keep you're tank longer.

In little game's, Don't let all the creadit's go to you're head lol you dont always need to play to become good at headshots. get a very high DPI mouse, set it to the fastest and se it for about a month. you will find that you can kill quicker with a siper.

When you need a change of pace, play other shooters besides Renegade. You'll learn basic accuracy, ammo conservation, and survival tactics to name a few. They'll carry over into pretty much any FPS you play.

you also have to remember to use the right weapons at the right time; for example:

your enemies wf/strip is down, you have plenty of creds; it is best to buy anti infantry like mobius or havoc; whereas, even though they have a one-hit kill to any basics, sydney(PIC version) and raveshaw arent recommended due to their 1 shot round weapons.

Go to Multiplayer Practice, turn on the friendly fire and shoot at everyone in the head, it can turn in to a real challenge, sometimes.

Personal ion cannon and railguns are 1337 snipe weapons ^^ It often gets you a !rg from people that don't know you.

yea they will rg you many times

But that doesn't really matter, because I nearly always have RG running , and besides, I mostly play on the BlackIntel servers or on the Koss.

If you use 3rd person (which you should), aim slightly over the head. Don't try to follow the enemy with your crosshair, wait for him to walk into it. Learn to move as well...it's almost more important than knowing how to aim...sidestep really fast and you'll become warpy for other people.

The Harvester always gives 300 credits unless the server is running some kind of mod. And for fuck's sake, leave the apostrophe key alone for a while.

knowing an effective way of dodging vehicles running you over is useful, because, if you can keep a vehicle distracted, your team could sneak into their base, or, they could destroy it while the veh is busy trying to kill you

Any idea how easy it is to kill a med tank with a rave? or even a light tank with a mobi?

My god, its near perfection.

The point is, learn how to kill tanks, with infantry, and youll be a good player in no time.

Why?

Because, think of this:

The other teams loaded, buying mad meds trying to rush your team.

You have 4-5 good ravesaws around, they will uaualy be shot, and if you even kill 3-4 tanks, your obi/AGT shoudl be able to kill the other 3-4 depending on the drivers skill.

Not to mention, your making them use their money, which looks bad on there team when they have 1000's then in 20 minutes are down to 100's

Learning to kills tanks with tanks is infinitely more effective than with infantry.

It's better than "I'm such a n00b, and instead of asking or learning how to be decent, I resort to cheating. It didn't work."

Unless the base only has a few entrances???

To best learn how to play better, observe what other people are doing well and what you're doing bad and you'll eventually improve.

Also, one way i got better at shooting heads was taking out the automatic pistols and shooting any teamtate in your way to refilling.

n00b vs n00b: the rave kills the med and the mobius kills the light pro vs pro: the med kills the rave and the light kills the mobius

Any idiot can hit a med tank with a raveshaw - skill plays very little factor where the raveshaw is concerned. A true pro, however, can consistently bodyshot and headshot infantry with a med tank, and that'll get the job done a hell of a lot faster.

Ouch, I just got pwned there.

bows Good job lol

Your right, i guess it doesnt take much skill to hit a 10 foot metel block
