hasn't happend that much lately, but;

i will run renguard, it will start up as normal, connecting me to a renguard server. i will get in a game and start playing in public servers, in a few minutes my game will close, and renguard will say something similar to "Disconnected to the RenGuard Network."

on my firewall, windows security center (with SP2), i have renegade and renguard both unblocked, here are all the files unblocked:

so this should work fine right? if it happens in the future how can i work around this?

A while ago, the Renguard servers where flooded by script kiddies. It caused some disconnects from renguard clients and some other problems.

Also, it's not necessarely a Renguard problem. When your renegade crashes, Renguard will automatically disconnect but the window stays up and give you the illusion it caused the crash.
