I'm just wondering at how you can let Rg 1.04 coders cheat freely?(Crimson admitted) not only that DDOS people apparently.(not proven)

This game has sunk to new lows.

Some sort of response is coming, don't worry.

I'm only locking this to prevent the situation from getting out of hand before some sort of official response can be made. It's only been a short while since the last "scandal", and that will most definitely come up. I'll keep this out to be viewed, but keep your comments private until something is released.

Before you yell "cover-up", I'm sure there will be enough discussion to come once something is released. There is no use in attempting to do anything if people are basing decisions on things that may include misinformation. (I don't know the whole story myself, but I'm most definitely not going to take some disgruntled player's (corpgus) word for it at face value alone.)
