OK, this is a part of what I wanted to work on, but school, once more is going to take too much time. It is a spin-off of the Ren Racing Project. However, I have made an alternative objective. It is meant for two players, and the first one to the building can buy a beacon and place it on the pedestal to win. Or, since I have it in a circular map, you can race around so many times before placing the beacon, or you can just flat out race many laps.

I need to run vis, and a few other things. The pics are from my test level; I should have the final map finished by tomorrow sometime. Here's the contact me at kidrage11@attbi.com. I could host it on mods.cncrenegade.com or my personal webspace, which is about 10MB. Make it a RAR file and let me know how big is it.

How quickly threads disapear around here. Also, if anyone is interested, I want to make an entire package with fixing a couple bugs in this map, and adding more maps and vehicles. If anyone can help out, please leave a message of what you can contribute to this package. I have some new map plans already in mind, with new and unusual twists to them.

Super Bump
This thread is incredibly old they might no longer be available.

There is a map called LunarRacing (or something like that) that is a racing map.
