Just got my results for my first year at university...

Highest mark was c++ programming 2, with 90%
Lowest mark was Professional Studies at 59%, but thats a load of bollocks anyway tbh xD

The other 4 marks were all over 85%.

So, since the pass mark is only 40%, it would appear that I have passed my first year with ease

(I know you don't really care anyway, I am just happy with the results so I decided to post them everywhere xD)

Congratz on your marks, danpaul88.

Can't believe it, 40% passing mark, what is the name of your university?

Teesside university. Don't forget the 40% is for all 6 modules, and this is only the first year. Obviously higher marks are better in the long run as well

I'm pretty sure if you get that working you don't want to switch. And if you don't ... well ...

pfft, My University won't let you continue with your CS degree without at least a "C"(72%) in your core prereqs and you can't graduate without a "C" GPA. Lucky Bastard

My freshman year was way rougher than yours, but I'm turning it around now. Have a 2.7 GPA and only going up every year
