This looks like R3n3g1de's's work (i think hes the brother of someone here)- look at this:
<http://www.renegadeservice.hyperphp.com/forum/viewtopic.php?f=8&t=18>

It looks more like a clan - they talk about recruitment and TeamSpeak being hosted on someone's home pc.....along with free hosting and a subdomain, its looking interesting

I don't think it's really a bad thing. If anything, it's a small boost for the game, in that it'll keep a couple people around, or maybe even attract some new ones.

They'll probably keep at it for two months, and then quit.

Copycat communities generally arise from someone's desire for power that he can't earn on the sites he wants to be a part of.
