If you're still using the 0669XXXXXXXXXXXX type serial you used to run the installer, you need to replace it with your legit game serial, otherwise you'll carry on as you are.

I assume your not logged into WOL with that nickname at the same time? You cant use the same login name for both server and player at the same time.

Can you copy-paste what's in your c:\windows\windows\system32\drivers\etc\hosts - file (open it with notepad)?

Delete the last two lines:

195.13.63.187 irc.westwood.com
195.13.63.187 servserv.westwood.com

and all should be ok!

It's the same error so it was a bit hard to recognise. Thing is that xwis recently changed its server ip, making it for people that previously used their little xwis tool impossible to connect now.

There should be a sticky made for "RenegadeFDS Problems: F.A.Q", because most of the questions are the failed to create channel issue

Where is the new XWIS forwarding tool at, maybe that is another reason why the server wont connect, because of the new IP and me using the old tool...hmmm.

You don't need the tool at all.

Then how do i connect? Because normal renegade without xwis forwarding wont auto connect, or will it, cause on my laptop where I mainly play renegade, I use the xwis forwarding tool.

It will auto connect. EA forwarded the WOL ip's to xwis.
