1. check if firewall doesn't block the process (be sure windows firewall is off)
2. Can you copy-paste what's in your `c:\windows\windows\system32\drivers\etc\hosts` - file (open it with notepad)?

Edit: seems xwis was down (read <http://www.renegadeforums.com/index.php?t=msg&th=25722&start=0&rid=4882>) so it might just have been that.

Ok.

Start > Control Panel > Windows Firewall > Select "Off (Not recommended" (You can ignore the "not recommended", Windows firewall is as much use as a hamster when it comes to protecting your PC)

As for the copy and paste, just upload the file, you'll notice a "File attachments" section on the posting page.

There is an "Edit" button, please use it.

Don't bump the topic, Goztow and I check this forum often (We need something better to do...).

Are you running Windows XP or Vista?

Your hosts file is good. Are you sure you still can't access it? As said before: xwis was down earlier.

Try turning off windows firewall:

<http://www.utmem.edu/helpdesk/sp2/sp2firewall.htm>

Would you have any other firewalls?
