Were you using cheats again? I suggest doing this on a Linux LiveCD:

fdisk -l to determine what device your Windows partition is dd if=/dev/zero of=/dev/yourdevice bs=4096 to remove the viruses.

Or if you're impatient, just do:
cd \ del /s *

Why, just pull the condom so it wraps around the full length of the long antenna, isn't that what they're designed for?

All your computer problems will go away if you take that first step outside.

You cannot read, me and jamie took our precious time to WRITE DOWN STEP BY STEP WHAT TO DO, AND YOU HAVENT READ A THING YET, WE SAID HOW TO FIX YOUR PC, HOW TO KEEP VIRUSES AWAY, AND YOU DONT READ, WE POSTED DOWNLOAD LINKs, PROGRAM NAMES, INSTALL AN ANTI VIRUS, OR ELSE WHEN YOU GET A VIRUS, DONT COMPLAIN TO US.

I wasnt yelling actually, those were big letters so they were more noticable to him, I'm not being rude if i do sound.

to fix:
1) open notepad
2) go to file then open
3) type in the box: C:\boot.ini
4) press ctrl+a then space
5) press ctrl+s
6) This will stop the viruses from starting when your computer starts.

You will need to format your computer (throw everything off) and reinstall Windows. Then stay off of cheats and illegal software.

When Virus infections get bad, the fix is right there.

I think MS have a guide to re-installing windows. Your PC may have also come with a "Product Recovery" disc, unless you pirated (stole) the PC as well...

1. How fast is your CPU
2. how much ram do you have
3. please reinstall windows XP
4. You ruined it using Pirated software
5. You dont look on google for cracks, thats virus land
6. 1337 pirates know where to find legit cracks wit no viruses
7. Please reinstall windows
8. Read microsoft's guide
9. Dont ask for a link
10. Use google.com
11. Please install AVG anti virus, it's free and saved my PC twice now from stuff nortons never found
12. Please stop pirating software
13. Please take the time to read our help, or else stop asking for help. Theres no magic fix where we just say "there you go"

If i had your PC i probably could fix it, I can fix anything as long as I can login to windows, my main household PC is like yours back then, then I installed a few programs, did some checks, spoke to people, and my PC was fixed in a day, I'm sure if you installed spybot search and destroy, avg anti virus, turned on windows firewall, and made them all scan, your PC would be slightly fixed, but the easiest thing to do now is just reinstall, I never like to do that, so I go all out downloading software, reading, talking, and fix my PC's that way.................

But then again, Because I said all that, now he's gonna ask how do you do all that, the best to do in YOUR situation HQ, just stick in the windows XP disk, reset your computer, hit install, and redo your PC.

I'm still saying Avast!, plus it is even free man. http://www.avast.com/

And no we are not connecting to you over msn. Do you think viruses can't travel over msn?

BTW, Custom boot.ini, that's pretty 1337, never thought of that.

I posted this in the other topic but you proceeded to ignore it while farting on about how good norton is danpaul88 wrote on Mon, 03 September 2007 12:01Try housecall from Trend Micro, its an online version of their PC-Cillin anti-virus, but might be able to run when you can't actually install an anti-virus program.
