That's easy; you typed in your password wrong, or someone else registered that name already and you'll have to choose a new one.

I have a problem with Renegade for ages. It begins at my Celeron 1300/ GF4 system. Under WinXP.

The game crashes after the intro video, and drops me back to the desktop, and writes a failure message. I can't reach the main menu. I've changed my configuration, but the problem remained. My original First Decade Renegade makes also that. What is the problem?

What hardware do you have?

Now: Athlon64 X2 4200, 2 GB ram, Inno GF8600GT (before it: 6600GT, same problem), Samsung 160 GB. these are the most noticeable parts. All works on default speed.

Old PC: Celeron 1300, 256 MB RAM, GF 4200 64 MB, 40 GB Maxtor.

The problem is same, and on the old PC I tried the game under Win98SE and Millenium, and it is same.

All driver are the latest (the First Decade also recommends this).

3-4 years ago, on the older mashine worked the game, under WinXP, the hardware was the same (this PC has the same hw for 2002). The backup game was cracked. But with my original First Decade is the same problem.

I've read on the Net, more people has this same problem, after the intro it crashes.
