I use to rank at 17 out of 125 players but now I rank at 29 out of 284 players. I spent 20 times on GDI, 30 times on NOD and I have 2 MVP models. My score is 63073 and my K/D is 0.66
Anybody else play?

Here is the RxD site [url]www.renxtreme.info[url/]

I agree with troop, it's a nice looking site. From what I've gathered it's some sort of modded Renegade server, but I'm still not sure... fill us in?

At first glance, it looks like a model making site... But then I noticed a "Server Status," and it says something about needing model makers.

So I'm guessing it's just some kind of community, just like renforums, but smaller, it has it's own projects, and a server. Just a guess though.

Another random community among the hundreds in Renegade, nothing special.

http://www.renegadeforums.com/index.php?t=msg&th=26474&start=0&rid=2 3247

That is the link to the old RxD link.

But anyway, RxD is a mod of renegade demo, and what this mod does is it adds all of the MP maps, textures, sounds, and other stuff that is in the full version. So basically it is the full game except the SP missions. It has the multiplayer practiece map, LAN, WOL, GAme spy. I know he said WOL would work, but I don't believe him. The RxD site is not a clan it is the server hub site. The members that donated to the server are:

· [DG}TheGreatFlaris
· pEE-thug|s2

· FluffyKillerBunny69

No I have the game, I just play RxD as well as Renegade Full Version....Anyway they did not priated it the files are diffrent and the "game.exe" (called rf.exe) is not the same. The two games (RxD and Renegade) are diffrent enough not to be considred pirated.

Why would you mod the DEMO instead of the final version? It makes no sense...

Cause a lotta poeple that don't have renegade can play with the demo and it is excatly as playing in the FV version of Renegade, plus it is free.

Stop saying stuff you don't know anything about (elite-officer).

Why we took the demo version of Renegade? Because it is extremely easy to apply modifications client side. The demo only weights about 90mb, and contains the absolute basics of files required to play Renegade. It's the perfect playground to experiment with Renegade. If we were to try the same at full version, it would be a massive pain and most efforts would go unnoticed. The demo has a much higher server/player ratio, and therefor a relatively bigger community.

About the pirated part. Do realise that a lot of us do legally own the full version. It's basically a copy paste job from folder to folder, with a nice blend of vanilla and a seperate room on Gamespy. Call us cheap for not being able to afford 5$, but do know that we put our own time and money in the maintainance of the server.

And indeed, some people playing RxD do not have a legit copy of renegade. If you want to cry about it to EA, be my guest, if that is what makes you happy. We are not entirely happy with this fact either, but it's doing noone any real harm, not even EA.

I did not mean to say anything bad, I was just telling all of the other Renegade players what RxD was and that it was fun and I was trying to get them top stop asking me what RxD was and to bothering me about how it works.
Anywawy what a good discription of RxD.

Hey slave why is the "Forums" and the "Register" command disabled on the RxD site?

Long time ago, I once tryed to get a buddy of mine onto WOL, so I told em to get the demo, figuired it had limited things in the .exe, so I would send him my .exe's and all the MP maps, eventually it obviosuly didnt work out. Sounds like a good idea tho, w/e it takes to get more people online for free, Get 'R Done.
