Ok, well what exactly is needed? Free legal advice? Both my parents work with various type of lawyers, if you want, I could ask them?

I have their emails from a Careers project way back when.

Me and someone else have drafted up a legal document that needs a basic checkup for validity and legality, since we're all not lawyers.

It'd definitaly better to have someone who *has* a legal background (due to studies), than someone who knows someone who has background, if you understand what I mean..

A very good friend of mine does (international?) law studies here in Groningen, but that's no use for the USA I guess.

They start with a "4" and end with a "chan".

Perhaps that it makes a different that I already know (partially) where he needs it for...
