Its an argument for sure, but so far doesn't seem to be too out of hand Better for them to fight it out, as communicating usually leads to resolution rather than a silent war Just please tone down the racism...you can find a way to express your disagreement without resorting to racial slurs.

how would that be confusing? i mean, you can tell right now which is itching right? either left or right.

wouldnt see how having something extra of anything could be confusing, you'd learn to live with it.
