Hey, just re-installed Renguard onto my vista laptop. I had been getting error 00000005 for awhile but I fixed it by running both Renegade and X-Fire as admin. Now I can get into games the only problem is any time I join a game through X-Fire(my Gamespy is currently telling me I'm missing an operator whenever I click the renegade area)it says I am Unnamed as well as not running Renguard.

Is there any known problem here, or solution? Cause I know I'm running renguard and I have the latest black hand patch but it still states whenever I join that "[Unamed] You are not running Renguard, please download from www.renguard.com" What do I do?

Do you run both game.exe and game2.exe in admin mode (and possibly xp sp2 compatibility)? Renguard needs to save your nick to the register, so needs admin rights.

I'm not sure, I think only with game.exe. I'm not even sure what game2.exe is. And where/how would I save my nickname to rengaurd. I've never used it with X-Fire before, only gamespy(which is currently being very stubborn about the missing operator.)

When you've installed RenGuard, game.exe is Renguard anti-cheat, game2.exe is the game itself, this way your old shortcuts work.
