Is there some kind of file you could edit so that you're already in 3rd person when you enter a server?

I think "default to first person" in the registry was supposed to do this but I just tried it and it doesn't work.

Extended config rules, especially the option Lock camera to turret and the ability to skip intro/cutscene movies.

Really, it used to work for me, this program has been around for years, maybe the new scripts cause it not to work, hmm. :s

Works for me.
(Me being the one who has to pause and unpaue before being able to move my character every time a new game starts. Probably for the same reasons, as it it only happened with the new scripts.)

The first 3d model I ever made was a hovercraft, therefore it has some sort of sentimental value to me I don't know, but I do update my avatar as I update the vehicle.
