My server is up and running happily now

But I'd like to know how to make myself the server Admin and gain my powers as an admin ingame + how to make my friend a full mod + my cousin a half mod.

I edited the file: moderators.cfg accordingly, but I'm not an Admin still. Here's the printscreen of what I put:

That seems ok. Might be u need to change the file where brenbot.cfg refers to (check if it says moderators.cfg correctly in there).

Yes, it's correctly spelt in brenbot.cfg, I don't think that's the problem.

You have to either register your name and authenticate when you join the server (see the BRenBot readme) or disable forced authentication in the BRenBot configuration file. This is all explained in the readme.

Ok, I registered my username in IRC earlier, just forgot to identify myself. So I am currently the server Administrator... But does this mean that I have to go on to the IRC Channel everytime I want to be logged on as an Admin?

yes(recommended, imo). Once you register your nick with the server's BRenBot, you have to !auth yourself via IRC..

I think you can auth yourself via in-game by paging the server's hostname with !auth NICK PASSWORD

You can add your password in the Renguard options -> 'password' window. It will then auth for you with brenbot.

The above only works when you direct connect or use gsa with rg.

It works perfectly fine with WOL/xwis as long as you use the same nickname to sign in to renguard and to sign in to WOL.

Just like to add that its recommended that you remove the example nicks from the list "mod1, mod2" etc.. otherwise people could join your server with them nicks and start banning people.

I actually deleted renguard, so that's no use, or do you mean the renguard file inside the BrenBot folder?

If you are using BR I would suggest using RG BR doesn't like people without RG.

What are you talking about? BR works perfectly fine for people that don't use RenGuard.

Yeah, Caveman's right... I adjusted the settings so BrenBot allows me to do everything when I'm not even logged in as an administrator.

Just wondering.... Is it possible to make the !login and !logout commands like on the St0rm Extreme AOW server? And if so, how?

It would save me heaps of time, than having to !auth myself on IRC or having no protection whatsoever with ForceAuthAdmin=no.

You can page the server doing /page servernick !auth password or put the password in the renguard options, "password" field.

So I can't create the login and logout commands?

BRenBot does not allow you to logout, but you can login from ingame using !auth, paged to the server hostname.

Wait a minute, St0rm Extreme uses BRenBot, so how come they can use the command !logout?

St0rm uses a custom bot, I have no idea what you're talking about.

yea, where the hell did you get that idea that St0rm uses BR!?

Sure, they use brenbot.dll plugin...But that doesn't mean they use BRenBot. :V

Or make some custom IRC script for !login cmd which auth you ingame.

Oh, because it says 'BR' when you type the command !rules ingame just before the rules come up.... I guess this is the BRenBot.dll file causing this, yes?

Or just put your password into the Renguard options and it will auth you automatically.

I mentioned earlier on in this thread that I deleted Renguard, it's just too much of a hassle but I'll install it again just for your sake

Thank you for helping.
