I've always wondered how the fuck Easter came to be associated with finding eggs and rabbits.
Anyone know why?

(In before South Park references, etc.)

Easter and X-mas are about Jesus Aye?
Well, Explain St Nick then.
And I'll explain Easter Bunny.

The church bells would be silent from Good Friday until Easter Sunday. This was to symbolise them leaving to Rome and coming back or something like that. I suppose that afterwards it was added that the bells came back from Rome, leaving chocolate eggs on their way which the children then went to search.

This isn't any info I found on the web, it's the way I understood it.

I was told that the egg symbolizes the boulder which the women rolled away when they went to Jesus's tomb and found him gone. But it seems there are many ideas.

Let's ask Wikipedia.

Quote:

The egg is widely used as a symbol of new life just as a chick might hatch from the egg.

Another Orthodox tradition is the presenting of red colored eggs to friends while giving Easter greetings. Based on a History channel documentary about Mary Magdalene and her role in Christianity, the custom derives from a supposed extra-Biblical event. After the Ascension of Christ, Mary supposedly went to the Emperor of Rome and greeted him with "Christ is risen," whereupon he pointed to an egg on his table and stated, "Christ has not risen no more than that egg is red." After making this statement it is said the egg immediately turned blood red.

As for the easter bunny, whatever it has to do with easter.. lol Apparently rabbits are animals of great fertility, and being spring some people decided to make some money off it?

Easter is just getting like Christmas, meaning people just buy stuff and give away presents. Eat them selves till they drop. Company's making huge profit. I don't want to be part of this group. Leaving out the true reason of easter. Not that I am celebrating that anyways.
