Did you hate the fact that Sakura had bare arms in her second suit as well? Well that's fixed now, with this simple fix!

For free use, mirror it if you wish.

For skinners (and of course mappers, modders etc), it's crucial to provide their stuff in a ZIP or RAR including a readme. I fixed it for you.

Why exactly? I mean I can understand if it is big, but for such a small file?

For two reasons=

1) It's your work and you will not want that anyone else release this under his/her name and claim to be the author.

2) People like IronWarrior who upload the files on big download sites need to know who created it. Usually, all files provided for download are compressed archives on such sites.

And it's better for organizing your own collection.

And you also managed to make the file 3x it's original size, well done.

Another example: If some of you do release their own maps, would you upload them without additional information? Beside the fact, mixmaps can be compressed well. No, you won't.

My post was meant as a hint, I didn't want to blame anyone.

I don't use skins anymore but this is a good skin. Keep up the good work, Karandras!

Even with the bare arms, this second Sakura skin looks great because she has tatoo.
