Great ^^ Just come try and talk to me when you are 16 and you are blind because your eyes have been burned out from looking at a computer screen all your life instead of being out side and doing healthy stuff. OMG a blind bat at the age 20 and as fat as a pig because you can't move your ass away from the computer screen, it is just all sick. Being outside it good for you plus it is healthy. At such a young age your brain is still developing and growing and you are hurting it by sitting there and at the computer.

I hope you get cancer.

Rocko and renalpha, if this sparks your curiosity, then feel free to try it. Grab a camcorder and have a friend record you for a day, or for a little bit at least, acting completely normal. Take that same tape after the day is over and watch how you behave throughout the tape. I'm almost sure you'll find your reaction to be different than what you previously had expected.
