Well if you can imagine it's shape changed completly, detached from the main hull of the ship and then converted to choclate with a hollow interior, and possibly a cheap horrible toy inside, then it is an easter egg.

You're probably looking at the mouth on the second one.

Edit: wait, maybe I'm wrong. :/

That sucks but hey...atleast EA is doing a fine job listening to the community. They changed the Apoc tank...it looks like the RA2 Apoc but slightly goofy.

RA3 is basically a toony version of RA2. Still good...

I am with you...

The difference is most likely due to a change in the health resulting in a different texture.

2nd picture is his secondary ability, where he can go faster but loses health points (look at the back of the Kirov).

RA2 was anything but a simple wargame. It was too funny. To see the difference, go play TS, C&C3 and then come back and pop in RA2...you will immediately see a difference. RA2 has bright maps, vibrant colors and funny funny characters.

Can't wait for this sucker to come out!
