Um okay I opened XCC mixer and opened Always.dat. I found the files for textures of the weapons but im not sure how to apply them to Renegade, Is it as simple as just extracting and putting in Renegade Data folder, or does it require something else?

okay,
this is what i did
open up 2 renegade data folders.
open 1 into the reborn folder.
and then double click it.
there will be folders with chars,weapons,etc
double click a folder, then double click a file in the next folder
CUT it out and the paste in the OTHER data folder. contiune to do this until done-warning, if u dont delete the folder you have cut and pasted you may end up cutting it too many times and repeating yourself.

Let me try to explain to you, for example when you want to use Reborn's weapons.

Reborn and Renegade use different weapon models, normally you would have to open the models from reborn in RenX and then export it again as the file for a weapon in Renegade (that is because you can't manually rename the file)

Also a possibility is to do it with HexEditor, you have to replace the names. I don't know exactly how to do it anymore, but I am sure if GenBlacky reads this that he probably could explain

But there are a couple of weapons in Reborn and Renegade that use the same names but are different models. Now this is easy because you could simply copy the file from Reborn (by using XCCMixer) to your Renegade data.

Make sure you also copy the textures used for this model to your renegade data folder (Look them up in w3dviewer).

If you need more help ask me

Here a sample. Reborn's C4 models have the same name as in Renegade.

Simply find the files and copy them to your folder.

I'd say : Thank you Reborn team ^^

And I could upload these C4 if no one objects.
