As for this topic, uh, yeah. Showing what units are ingame TOTALLY isn't a cheat, right?

That is one of the worse HUDs i've seen. You have way too much stuff on screen and it becomes a distraction. The only thing I like in that entire SS is the emitters you have on the HON.

It was not our intention to create a hack.

cAmpa and me created that buildingbars and the minecounter as feature for the ren-com marathon server. This hud was originally planned as HUD which works @ ren-com server only but we dropped that thought and released a public version instead.

And I never thought that the minecounter would be considered as cheat too.

My intention is to help the renegade community with modding/mapping and I would never do something knowingly which destroys it. The only thing we can do now is keeping the buildingbar-version from public.

I guess the HUD shows what can be done but this looks ugly and is also quite an advantage. If there are many techs, one can safely assume a rush may be incoming soon...

I think Renegade has entered an era where we will see more of these kind of advantage stuff...

It will be a big advantage for sure.

I am indeed referring to a feature like PunkBuster has. The nice thing about is that it's up to the server owners to decide if it randomly takes ss's and when, if it takes a screenshot on a moderator command. At least, I suppose so .

I asked the community to release the whole HUD with the building feature.

All what i received was a "that's a cheat" "unfair feature" etc. etc. (I respect the arguments from Gozy etc. and Jonwil said the same)

So we (deathlink and me) released all our other work on the HUD.

And this post is your "oh thank to share your work for us"?
