UPDATED

Added tiberium smoke over tib fields, changed clouds and made it slightly darker, almost night time. Also added a video, and changed the image previews.

Works online. This only changes textures in islands, no other maps are affected.

it has a cool tiberian sun kind of theme to it, to me it seems darker and more gloomy and the water makes me think it's more mutated

i could hear tiberian sun music in my head when i looked at it i'm not a huge skin person but i might get this

Agreed it does have cool TS feeling to it. But if LeeumDee did intend for it to be like TS then the one thing he would have to change is the clouds, making them have a thicker apperance.

Sadly the sky/clouds aren't part of the map model itself, so I cant change them and include it in the mix. At least the way im making it you can't. Im sure there is a way however.

I appreciate the tips
I wanted to keep the sun in there as i want it to be gloomy but not night time, just a shitty sky in the day. Appreciate the critcism though, a lot. Thanks

I'm still convinced that it's almost night themed with the stars being visible and all. But i'm still going to use this, great job.

how long had you been playing before that happened?

That's a weird bug indeed :/ I'll be repacking this release anyway as soon as I get level edit and my other stuff re-installed.

I actually played through all that for a while lol. It was just the westwood skins at first then when I got to gdis base the WF was invisible. So I just walked along the invisible wall until I found the door and got inside. Then everything was visible inside and I killed it. Then I got in my buggy and drove back to base and everything started disappearing. Was the first time I played the map since the map replacement.

You could add the .dds into the .mix with RenegadeEx =)
