So I've been looking around for some time for a set of wheels, and I'm curious if anyone here has had experience with the following brands: Yamaha, Honda, Suzuki, and Buell(& Harley). Anything to do with service, reliability (or lack thereof), and overall enjoyment.

Also, I'm likely to get something out of the 'cruiser' department (V-Twin, low saddle), but I'm not averse to a couple of the Sport-Touring models like the Buell Ulysses; any advice on either category based on comfort, practicality, and anything else you think should be mentioned. I'm also looking for something that's under 1200cc, but above 650. Weight is of little concern to me, as long as it's easy to control.

I know it's likely a long-shot, but I've been surprised here before.
