Server: the server will be hosted by Jelly (US based).

Signing up is possible until a few days before the game. All members of this forum can signup for this team, on a first come first served base, but let me make it clear that I can reject a candidate without motivation, based on personal judgement (I doubt this will happen but u never know). Signing up for renforums means you cannot sign up for jelly and vice versa. If you signup, then we count on you showing up.

We ask all players of our team to use teamspeak. You don't really need a mic though, you can just listen in. TS adress: ts3.thekoss2.org . Download teamspeak3 from www.teamspeak.com .

Spoony will lead our team. We'll create a private strategy talk subforum for these games soon.

From my experience, Jelly servers are pretty bad for me in terms of lag. It could be that they changed something after I tried it, but still the distance will guarantee a minimal ping of 150ms, which I don't like.

Also, judging by what I've seen on our server, there are probably in the whole of the community about as much Euro as US players. In our server we happen to have a lot more euro than US players, but our server is Euro based.

150 ping would suit me fine for an american server, i usually play with ~225 and its pretty okay.

The rules are a copy paste of clanwars.cc rules, btw.

I thought I had made enough uncertain posts in this thread to get on the "Unsure/Reserve" list. I guess not, although I don't know how to be more unsure than I have been.

Please add when you'll be able to confirm)

We currently have 16 signed up and a few reserve. Jelly has 20 signed up.

I don't remember ever hearing about Canada in any wars from history class, but I figured they had to sometime.

Anyone can edit Wikipedia, and that article is a lie. Canada has never gone to war, mainly because the highest our population has been is 17 and our military consists of a snowmobile and the base of operations is Lumberjack Norm's igloo, which has since melted.
