Yaa!

I hope a lot of people still play it multiplayer like at least 500 people a day cuz than i'll be sad i wasted my money when i could've bought Battlefield Earth or Generals, but then i heard that is VERY slow multiplayer cuz of the massive requirements and some people don't have that and lag ya.

My bad guys, i meant Battlefield 1942. I don't know where the Earth came from lol. Anyways, so i bought the game, and GUESS for how much!!

$14.99 CDN in Toronto! HAHAEHAEHAE what a deal..first i went to best buy and they had it for $29.99 , but then i'm like...hmm.....i'm going to compucentre so may as well look there. But the game was sealed in one of those "DVD" boxes...u know the plastic case with a little booklet and the CD. What was strange though, was this is a UK version i think, cuz at the back it had some UK phone number for tips and tech support, and it said UK.EA.com or other way around, neways it had UK in the URL.

Yup, that's it folks, i got it for pennies. Next, i gotta search for generals But it's kind of sad how this game went so cheap so fast...kinda shows how isn't popular in stores...

One complaint though, is i got quiet a bit lag on some servers...and i'm using a T1 on reznnet. Is it just me? or the servers?

Later,
Mystro

I have a cable modem and I get hit with lag every now and then. Unless the lag is serious I can usually deal with it.

It is usally the servers you choose, try to pick the best ping server possible I never enter a server with more than 200 ping thus never getting much lag...

Oh yeh I have a Cable Modem 512kbps up 256kbps down .
