Okay it was the level field, we were under attack majourly by GDI and there was about 4 Mammoths. Suddenly my freind joined and I got an idea. Maybe I stood next to the Mammoth I would blow it up. So he mined me up, 10 Remote C4. Then I got behind them, and was standing next to it, but it ran me over. I said "S H I T" then my friend pressed the button when the mammoth is over me, and BOOM. Fully armored Mammoth one shot destruction. It worked very well.

well, that's a quite good idea, really. But one needs an other player to communicate with. You can also try this with mines, I once saw a tech who had 5 mines on his body (accidentally).I sometimes place lots of C4 on the harvester at the very beginning to blow up enemies who try to get near the harv... this really works very well!(sorry for my bad English)

Hey, I have used this strat. before. It also works if u take like a buggy or hummvee and put about 10 or so prox on it then go near a MRLS or a guy and u see the tank blow up wit the guy but the tank doesnt get hurt!!

Oh, yeah, the "torpedo run". Not very effective, but funny. My fav C4 trick is to time c4 a sniper, PM him, and get three guys as he panics and runs to engineers to get them to disarm it.

you could only do this 3 times since the limit is 30.....and you would have trouble if a tech came inside a building with nuke or ion.....but its a good idea though (i already know about it)

Well, what I do when I hear or see that I have timed C4 on me, I run into tiberium. At least he doesn't get the kill.

I've done this before it worked pretty good, but a better idea is to grab a tech early and a buggy keep mining the front of the buggy then ram your buggy into the harvester get out and destroy!

When I see noobs loading up a buggy with mines I get real pi$$ed. So I just blow up the buggy. Love when the noobs get mad.

You can get a cheap, but not to cheap, vehicle (buggy, apc, MA, etc.) and set proxies all over it (5 for buggy, 7 for apc, 9 for MA, etc.) then leave it in the road (tell your team not to take it) have the back towards the enemy base and put a few mines in front of it. the enemy steals it (hopefully a $1000 enemy) and tries to go forward towards your base, but the tank explodes. But he'd probably still be going strait, and he'd hit the other mine and die. It works about half the time usually on noobs. What you think

What i like doing is bring a tech then buying a buggy and take it down to half health then load it up with remote c4s and most people dont notice it. when someone on the other team steals wait for them to get around engineers to heal and boom! I got 7 kills all at once for that.

It's just like the crazy ivan or the demoltion trucks in Ra2 if we make it right!!!!!! See 4 mammoth tanks coming you way but no money? No problem! Buy a buggy and mined it up and send the other tank to oblivion, and you can still use the buggy afterwards.
