You actually remember shit you did in Renegade 11 years ago and you're trying to pass it off like it's normal. You must have:

An eidetic memory

The ability to recall stupid shit that no one but you cared about until you brought it up

No social life to speak of, giving you the ability to look like you have an eidetic memory when in reality what you really have is a shitty social life which grants you the superhuman power to remember stupid shit that no one but you cared about until you brought it up

A business whose failure your parents blame on Obama, and by extension, yourself

@ACK that awkward moment when your family still makes over 500K a year and you're getting talked down upon by a bunch of welfare mooching faggots - my life blows lets list some occupations -

xpert = mcdonalds

ethenal = said multiple times his family gets government assistance

ACK = according to what your girlfriend said (i never did get verification) you're also a welfare mooch kholdstare = hug me pls

ehh = mooch

iran = virgin software programmer unhired if not lying about something liquid = works in retail making 8 dollars an hour wow that's funny my summer job gets me more money in 3 months working weekends only than you guys make in a whole year lololol umad nikkas? so funny you guys try to pick on zunnie when he's a billion times more successful than all of you combined. gg geeks

i used to work at Target
you used to work at Subway i don't get what that has to do with anything at all, but ok if it makes you feel better, zunnie was unemployed for a while and on Dutch welfare, using it to fund his Renegade servers i don't think less of him for caring about Renegade, but my criticism in this topic was valid whether you like it or not it would honestly be in MPF's best interests if he tried to make peace with those two individuals and let one of them start organizing things again because it was really working out well for them

long live Renegade woohoo

Look, man. I'll come clean. I only voted for Obama because he gave me free stuff. I have a new Cadillac because of him. He just gave it to me. He actually drove it up to my house and said "Thank you! I can continue destroying America now because of you. Please accept my sincere thanks on behalf of our socialist overlords in Sweden. This car is but a trinket compared to what it represents, the wholesale theft of American workmanship for the purpose of vote purchasing!"

He also gave me a new phone, too. I almost refused, because the car was just too awesome, but he insisted. So I took it. I mean, what else was I going to do? Your parents already have phones, plus he's taxing them to death to give me a phone so why not take it? So I did. Now my Obamaphone lets me call my Obamacare from my Obamacar and I can get my Obamafare every time I use my Obamacard to steal food from your mom and dad.

There's no hate like rich kids hating on other people because they think they're on welfare. I just called Obama on my Obamaphone after I stole some more money from your mom and dad. He mentioned that it was pretty amazing that you could say "LOL WELFARE" with a straight face after popping out of a silver-lined vag and never having to really work for a living.

Call us when you make 500k/year and aren't sponging off your parents, which is just a different way of saying that your parents are socializing you while they socialize my socialized Obamacard and my socialized Obamacare because he's obviously the biggest socializer whoever socialized in a socialization solicitation. g?G

What work?

Your life story: Goes to 100%-parent-funded local UW school, fails out off of academic probation. Then enlists in an EMT course but fails out of that or just stops going. Eventually goes back to school and attends a different UW campus. Suddenly claims he's in medical school and works with disabled children through his program. Suddenly claims he has a job supporting himself working with disabled children, insinuating he's already somehow finished medical school when he probably hasn't finished his 100%-parent-funded college AKA Obamasocialism.

I deliberately avoid talking about where I work and what I do when you're around just because it makes for great amusement to watch you flail around assuming that you know anything about me, how much I make, etc.

I don't even have a horse in this race, I just like watching you get pissed off over nothing. Well, that and Obama. Watching your hidden racism bloom like a decaying shit-covered rose really doesn't get old Straw? Madbro?

Every single thing I've said in here is a fact and you just bow out to your alpha by saying "ok" like all the other nerds to not have to face the facts.

Anyone who has ever played renegade with you knows you're the angriest player of all time, the fact you can call ANYONE mad is just fucking comical. You're like twice the age of anyone playing and you make ten times the scene of anyone else. I personally muted you and kicked you from n00bstories and Jelly at least ten times while I was a mod there. You clearly have issues.

I can just imagine your daughter now.

"Daddy can we play dolls?"

"NOT NOW SAMANTHA DADDY'S BUSY TALKING SHIT TO 12 YEAR OLDS OVER THE COMPUTER"

You lead an awesome life for a 35-40 year old. Mad jealous bro. Everyone here looks up to you, so I'm sure they're headed down the same path. Some real winners. This has been fun for a while, I think I'll see you in a few months again. Stay cool.

WILL BE TAKING A TWO WEEK VACATION GOT ANY TIPS FOR COSTA RICA????

You said I have grey hair or something, and I clearly don't lol

I'm also not 35, nor am I 40, nor am I any age above those numbers or within four years of those numbers - so when I asked what straw you were grasping at, I was referring to your random flailing to try and figure out just what the fuck you're talking about.

Let's come clean here. It might help your rage issues subside a bit if we do this.

1. I say "ok" because it's funny watching you get pissed off when your soliloquy is interrupted. I wouldn't even write it if it weren't so effective.
2. With how low the bar is for "rage" these days, I can imagine you look back on your Internet Memories and see things as being much shittier than they really were. I act in-game very much as I do on these forums, which is usually a mixture of sarcastic wit and aloofness. It's just how I do. No rage necessary!
3. I don't remember ever being kicked from Jelly by anyone named Jesse or AnThRaX or JesseThrax or AnthJesse or whatever you call yourself or whoever you actually are. This is assuming if you're actually Anthrax or someone named Jesse or if you're some semi-intelligent AI designed to write posts on a forum that grasp at straws and don't make a lot of sense.
4. My daughter is playing Sonic 3 in my living room with my wife.

5. Bringing up your Costa Rica trip is a nice humblebrag. This assuming you're actually going at all - and if you are, it's obviously not something you paid for. You're like Obama, actually. Or at least the caricature that you've made him out to be. So you sponge off your mom and dad and have yet to experience anything in life except being a failure at college, one of the easiest events in one's life. That's pretty pathetic lol

A little birdie told me about some private conversation you had with them and how you're a compulsive liar, especially regarding your racism. One time you were trying to talk about some world events they had no idea about because they didn't give a shit and spent more time caring about Renegade. You got really angry about being ignored in favor of Renegade. You said, "You care more about fucking Renegade than the fact that some n1gger is driving this country into the ground."

You, summed up:

A. You are clearly from MPF, and are bumping this thread to post in defense of your "friends"
B. I have personally seen Stallion drive away members of another community (Exodus), and I know many have personally seen him do much worse at n00bstories!
C. Stallion comes off nice at first and has programming skills, but as evidenced in his kick thread for kickmofo on MPF, he can absolutely be a total dick if he feels like it, and definitely fits with the whole moderator god complex

tl;dr your replying here was a mistake, but inb4 the lulz

Also D. Jelly stopped kicking people for "disrespecting moderators" about 5 years ago, grow a pair and stop acting like mods are gods

Seriously if I saw a Jelly mod kick for that I'd absolutely blow a fucking gasket, that is the dumbest double-standard shit, it pretty much says "don't disrespect staff members but who gives afuck about the players LOL" kickmofo kicked him for "moderator disrespect" (albeit some horribly misspelled variation of that), that's what I was referring to.

I don't know if RenDeploy is an Ultra server or not, I just saw he had his own unique tag, and there's additionally one for RenDeploy Server Admins, which would heavily imply it's somehow part of Ultra. Also in their "parody" video or whatever they mentioned stallion and dblaney1 as trying to develop for Ultra, maybe they lied, I don't know!

You met zunnie in real life. Big deal, did you have coffee with him in some retarded afk arena.

Don't get me wrong, probably is a nice guy, but he's a freaken moron when it comes to running a community and makes the most redundant code which is probably why it got removed out of 4.1 because compiling the scripts took like 5 years, lol.

Mauler and roszek were the only people at MPF with any logic at all and you lost both of them at the same time because you retards rather play on IK maps that include 2000 vehicles and infantry that has no balanced game play at all.

Pathetic haha.. You know what is pathetic.. You! I have never seen someone who thinks they knows so much and yet has literally done nothing.. At least there are people capable of making new content and do so freely.. Not all of it is quality but better than what you could ever do! And it's pathetic that you even bother to still be a member here.. All you do is come post some shitty reply and disappear for months. Hahaha...

This is like the only game community I've ever seen where people actively bother to stab one another in the back to create new "game communities" with weird names and tragically empty forums. This game would barely register a heartbeat if it were a person and you two think it's a brilliant idea to create another "gaming community" which boils in mediocrity just like every other Renegade community that splits off and tries to become something other than Renegade.

With Renegade you're left with 10 people at most. Without Renegade, you're just another bit of fungible gamers lost in an endless sea of the Internet and will eventually dissipate into other communities that are much larger than you can ever hope to be.

He's got a point, though. It's your money, piss it away if you want LMAO that is exactly what I said in that topic originally, but I deleted the post because it's just ego-stroking when you're talking to someone that says "lol" to any sort of legitimate (or illegitimate, for that matter) criticism.

I might as well say it here: that map has literally like 5 textures on the terrain, lots of "atmospheric" identical walls (with switched colored textures for GDI/Nod) and the lovely uniform single ground texture with the excellent hilariously fake looking round tiberium field, the random snow "puddles" and the pre-placed tank/aircraft shells.

Overall, it looks like he spent a really long time perfecting the map, and he did a great job. It's almost as good as GreatWall's excellent "village!" (HAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA)

Seriously though, I played Kaskin's GreatWall like a year ago (it was probably less finished than now) with all these extra tanks and units and shit, and there was this "village" that was literally composed of a bunch of identical buildings haphazardly placed somewhat "near" each other, making up a "village" - and I kid you not, it was literally one of the worst things I've ever seen in a video game. If you want to see what a village is supposed to look like, check out Creekdale - the buildings have like, doors and windows and stuff, and there's grass, and a bridge... instead of a single identical grass texture covering the ground + a bunch of rectangular "buildings" (polygonal blobs, really) placed in random spots on the uniform grass texture.

tl;dr tell Kaskins to spend 2 months on one map instead of 2 minutes on 5 maps

Serious question: do you really think that the maps in ACK's screenshots look better than Fjords? and when I say look better, I mean the fact that Fjords clearly has FAR more detail than either of the screenshots he posted, which seemingly share the exact same complaints I had about Orca_Height: a single uniform ground texture, an utter lack of scenery on the sides of the map, very random looking terrain obstructions, the very poorly textured walls... I mean jesus christ, it looks fucking terrible, that's all I'm saying.

I won't say the gameplay on those maps sucks because that isn't necessarily true, and I have no evidence to back up that assertion; I do, however, have very easily produced evidence (just look at the screenshots) of the fact that those maps look like absolute garbage! Look at the bottom screenshot: that is literally like, someone took 20 minutes to make a lumpy "terrain" in Gmax with only a grass texture on the ground, a dirt texture in that "indentation" in the ground, and the same dirt texture on the walls of the map... that's right, we've got a total of two textures for the terrain in that picture! And then they popped down the pre-made proxies for the buildings and voila - professional Renegade map. Also note the fan-made tank texture being worse than any of the stock textures, which is pretty funny since Renegade is 12 years old.

Meanwhile, in the bottom picture of Fjords, there's literally more detail on the side of the map that is completely inaccessible to the players than there is on the entirety of any of the playable surfaces of the maps which had screenshots posted!

Disclaimer: I'm not a mapper, and have never tried to make maps

Yeah that map looks pretty bad.

Kaskins is a real nice guy, I just don't get the ideas behind his maps.
I think some of his maps would be pretty nice if he got rid of all the crazy stuff he puts in them.

I also think it is a bad idea changing munitions on stock ren vehicles, and if you want to add new vehicles to a map you should just do a new set; certainly not add more vehicles than people can keep track of.

But that is just an opinion.

And like I said, GreatWall looked like absolute shit (the map, not necessarily the units). I'm not a mapper as I said before, but I still don't see the excuse for spending seemingly 30 minutes (exaggerated) on your map before releasing it.

it's more vehicles than he himself can keep track of, let alone take care of it could become something truly awesome if the added / edited units and vehicles made sense and actually played out well instead of simply existing it's essentially taking a balance that has worked out pretty well on its own for over a decade and tossing it into a blender with a bunch of other unrelated stuff, microwaving all of that once it comes out, and then presenting it to the public as a finished product the result is something new and different, but not necessarily in a good way it's utterly confusing and chaotic, with no semblance of reason or balance present

49.2% of the US population is on some form of government assistance, so that's fairly likely

i hate being in the top 2% of earners in the country, fuckin obama ruined our practice also ethenal how many times are you going to post that i tried adding you on steam a few months ago, man i didn't realize i was such a celebrity. glad i could make your day!

also tell liquid in that topic he posted the SS of me that i hit him as soon as he left his tank where your guy glitches on top of it lol i can't believe he's still talking about that.

also mike i just read that birthday thread .. i'm a weirdo because you removed me from your friends list for joining your rust match. makes sense. only the strangest people on the internet would join a friend's game.

nothing weird about mike dropping out of school and playing non-stop computer games for two years straight though. what are you upto 2500 counterstrike:go hours and probably 500+ in each L4D game plus hundreds of hours in countless other games ... hmm fuck you bud how bout you get a job and stop moochin off your parents cause there's damn sure no way you can play 4000 hours of video games in a year and hold a full time job unless you literally have no social experiences.

He still hasn't figured out that whether or not you're being socialized by your parents or by the government, it's still socialism

In your case, your parents are your government, and lmao at you bragging about what your parents make Woah woah woah! Didn't realize I had 2 options besides having my own job ;p Fuck working, I'm going on government assistance AND living with my parents!

On a more serious note I'm fine with government assistance/people living with their parents as long as they're still trying to get a job; however there are plenty around here that don't try and just coast off one or the other or a combination of the two (which annoys me to fuck and back).
