There is a bunch of out-dated/obsolete content on the Tiberian Technologies website (the wiki, main page, Patch Features page and other places).

Is there anyone out there who is willing to help improve the content and bring it up to date (wiki, main page, Patch Features page, whatever else)?

Or if anyone wants to take on the task of updating the design (and has the skills for that) let me know as well

Design is good. It doesn't have to look amazing cuz this site and/or game is not very popular so making new design doesn't make any sense but i would change one thing: width of the page is 950px but i would change it to 100% so page would fit every resolution. Now it's always in center. It's my idea
