Yep, it does.

Does he think people are that stupid? People will not kick you on their servers, because most server owners that you play on have half a brain to check the names of people they kick.

Besides, I don't think you would care if you were kicked from <Misc. server with no name and no reputation>.

i saw a jackass today on the crimson79 server. this guy kept placing beacons and winning the game for his team. its amazing what people will do just to advance on the ladder, or to spite others.

ACK what server was that on? Same for you Halo... I couldn't beleive how many points total each side had in that screen shot! I want to play a good game. Most I play are little games that end up with me in first with like 1000 and most having like 200 points... That's no fun.

Hahah, I saw him playing, he was a total n00b. Though, anyone who knows that TankCmdr6 is ACK also knows that this dude was a fake, others could not have less cared anyway.
