Once again, please make sure you use the <http://www.renegadeforums.com/> URL to get to these forums in case I have to move them again. I was able to convince England (the person, not the country) to host them, though I am now paying for it.

Welcome back!

England (the person, not the country) was hosting these forums for free, then he changed his mind and gave me an hour to move them off his server (which I found out about 15 minutes before time was up) -- I was able to negotiate their continued hosting, but I am now paying him instead of getting it for free.

$10/month

I'm putting together a premium type service for n00bstories.com that I might offer for a very small price to help offset costs. More on that later.

I was talking about for n00bstories, not these forums. I wouldn't do that to the forums.
