Subject: "Death of gmax" patch makes news again
Posted by YSLMuffins on Wed, 13 Aug 2003 00:25:31 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

As I reported in this thread, seems like a new "worm" going around is exploiting this apparently severe security glitch in the Windows family of operating systems.

ZDNet Special Report

Flaw in Windows worm tips off defenders

And I thought this would just settle like the dust on my computer...

Discreet needs to hurry up and get something worked out with their software. :-\

Plus, I just tried the Microsoft Windows update site, and it wouldn't load for me!

Subject: "Death of gmax" patch makes news again
Posted by Sanada78 on Wed, 13 Aug 2003 00:34:53 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Great, I just got this patch because my computer was having a problem with this "worm". I just tested GMax and the file won't open unless I merge.

Subject: "Death of gmax" patch makes news again
Posted by L3f7H4nd3d on Wed, 13 Aug 2003 00:47:29 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Looooool....I took care of several client's computers today who had that. Working for an IT company r0xx0rz...good pay, and don't have to do much actual work.