(remember i get an error when i try to register on there forums)

Yea i was playin at like 5 30 AM (east) this morning and there was a bunch of cheaters on there ruining the game. I didnt want to find a different server because i was on an MVP streak. Somthin needs to be done there needs to be more moderators on so that theres atleast 1 mod on at a time.

Is there usually somone with mod power in the IRC?

The reason theres less moderators is the school period just started again and with diffrent timezones, there is a greater chance that the younger mods will be at school or college, and if there not there they are bogged down with assignments.

Still there are commonly mods on, and whenever I have time I will always mod the servers.

Actually, BR has been acting up a little I think. That could be what happened. And if you are in a game and spot a cheater, please take a SS, with all the players names in it, and make sure to let us know what he/she did. Include the date, and approx. time
