First error i saw when he first posted the link in #n00bstories, is that it said -

28th February, 2004

Bit of a give away

Well, now that the jokes over I can post this. People need to learn to read, there were so many legal blunders that proved it was a hoax. First of all, renegade made the tools for maps to be made because they WANTED maps to be made. Maps were submitted to renegade realm, therefore permission to disperse them was given. and finally piracy deals with copyrighted material, not non-copyrighted material. So as it was said on the now normal renegade realm, check things out carefully first.
