i had the same problem, here is every registry key renalert installs when you.....install it. but alot dont work on some computers. so just simply put these in you renalert dir, and double click each one. it will prompt you, and youll want to add them.

There are alot of unrelated registry keys in those files. You revealed a suprising amount of information about your computer, including what software you have installed, your full name, and even the icons on your desktop I'm not sure someone would want to assimilate ALL of your software settings.

You don't have to install the registry keys at all as the RenAlert setup installs them.

I dont think RenAlert does anything with your desktop icons, or the other registry keys you supplied like C&C:Generals, Norton, etc?

I re-uploaded those keys, just extract them to your renalert folder, and merge all of em, it should fix it.
