I've set up a WebPost for community Teamspeak servers here. I'd like to try and get all the clan/public servers playing Renegade and Planetside on it so the community knows where to find, chat and challenge each other. As an added bonus, I hacked the script so you can easily add a list of online users to your website as a sidebar.   Check out the WL, PAW, or NS sites for an example.

Just point your server's WebPost to http://phase66.kicks-ass.net/webpost/webpost.php to get listed. You might need to restart your server, not sure. And make sure port 51234/tcp is open if you want player and channel info to be displayed.

Even if you don't run a server, bookmark http://phase66.kicks-ass.net/webpost/ to find other Teamspeak players and servers.

Or you could just come to the MadCow Teamspeak server....

Address: k9ftp.myftp.org:8767
IP(If addy does not work): (65.29.181.128:8767)

Enter in as what ever name you normally use. There are lots of different channels to hang out in and chat with your friends or enemies.

But the rules are clear, this is a no tolerance server do not abuse your privligies...   :twisted:

Yeah, but this is a way for everyone to be able to see all the community TS servers. It's not a competing server, it's a gateway for people in the community. I think it would be nice to have to MadCow server on that list.

Cool :bigups: Are you going to post a link to the sidebar script?

Sure... still just testing this thing out so there's some minor bugs I'm working on. But, once your server is listed, you'll be able to include the full channel info sidebar:

http://phase66.kicks-ass.net/webpost/simplelist.php?server=64.58.201.106&port=8767 or, the more practical players-only...

http://phase66.kicks-ass.net/webpost/simplelist.php?server=64.58.201.106&port=8767&action=pl

That is nice. I will set mine up later to day. I like the first one. That way you can see how other servers are set up.

Cool.

It's also good for people that have their IP change often. If there's no DNS, or DNS takes awhile to update, people will still be able to find your server.

Funny. It should read "K9's World"
I will have to look in on that. :oops:

It's a really nice thing to have =)

How do you make the name on this website http://phase66.kicks-ass.net/webpost/listing.php as a link? (Like NS has)

Yeah, I couldn't figure out the homepage link at first either. The "PostURL=" you put in your server.ini file is what should be set to http://phase66.kicks-ass.net/webpost/webpost.php.

Now, from the webadmin, the "Server WebPost URL" is actually just for the link back to your website. Seems kind of strange, and I think there's some kind of quirk with it, but that's how it seems to work. You must restart the server after making these changes.

It may take up to 5 minutes (hardcoded in the TS server) for changes to be reflected on the server list, so give it some time before you think it doesn't work.
