Just thought i would give you guys alittle heads up.

xfire is a buddylist program that works for mostly all games. (They just recently put renegade on the game list.)

Just add your buddies to it and it will tell your what game they are playing - What map it is on and you can double click them and join that game straight from your desktop.

<http://www.xfire.com>

Add me

IceSword7

It will show me on your list then under that it will show all of my friends that are one.

ive had this for lilittle over a month now.. it is very good but has quiet a few bugs they are trying to fix we also got renegade added to the games list.. the lastest patch detects it... and one of the next patchs should give server info and the ability to join

even if on WOL :/
