Why they ever even CONSIDERED changing to the 'new & improved' forum, I'll never understand. I haven't visited it for months and the last time I visited was only so I could add a third shirt to my collection.

Those forums were much better, it was much easier to see who the post is from, and so on... WTF is wrong with them? So the new forums enable use of HTML, so what? Aside from that, it sucks and looks gay...

Yeah, the old forums were much better. I used to visit those once in a while to laugh at all the ignorant 12-year old n00bs who took over pretty much a few weeks after the forums were made, but the new forums suck on all fronts.

The reason why they switched was EA would not have to pay for the UBB license fee.

Being a webmaster myself, and using crappy UBB. I can tell you that it's only a one time fee.
